Chi Upsilon Sigma National Latin Sorority, Inc. Releases a Statement on the Sorority's Response to the Coronavirus (COVID-19)

By now news of the presence of COVID-19, referred to as Coronavirus has become widespread throughout the nation. We send the following communication not only to our members, but to the public as this time is challenging for all of us. The health and safety of our members and community is paramount. We are continuously reviewing and responding to local, state, and federal recommendations regarding the rapidly changing COVID-19 situation.

The sorority is taking steps to protect our members, affiliate members, and interests. We are complying with all university directives around programming and campus activity.

In order to best serve our members, we are exploring new technologies to deliver information and resources. We are dedicated to the continued support of our members and community goals throughout this public health crisis and will be communicating on a regular basis to our members. We recognize the full impact that this pandemic will have on our society is unknown at this time, and we are utilizing every resource at our disposal to make informed choices and support our members through this difficult time.

The Board of Directors is here to help support our community during the crisis and to help stabilize and move it forward in the months and years after.

Chi Upsilon Sigma ® has been in existence since April 29, 1980, incepted on the New Brunswick Campus of Rutgers – the State University of New Jersey. Our founders are 7 Latinas who had the desire to create an organization to promote leadership among the Latino community and our membership has since grown to incorporate women of all ethnicities. Chi Upsilon Sigma has devoted itself to increasing awareness amongst ourselves, and our communities about important political, social, cultural, and educational issues and servicing the communities around us.
